Saving the game:

The player clicks the "Save Game" button, causing the system to record the positions of all players and save the game state. The player is then returned to the main menu, where they can resume their saved game by clicking "Continue Game".